

TAX IMPLICATIONS ON BUY BACK OF UNLISTED SHARES

Buy back and its Tax implications

What is 'Buy Back'?

Under the Income Tax Act, "buy-back" means purchase by a company of its own shares in accordance with the provisions of any law for the time being in force relating to companies.

Provisions governing tax on Buy Back

Buy Back of Listed shares and securities	Buy Back of unlisted shares
Section 46A (inserted vide Finance Act, 1999)	Section 115QA read with Section 10(34A) (inserted vide Finance Act, 2013)

Legislative intend behind introduction of tax on buy back of unlisted shares

Memorandum explaining provisions of the Finance Bill, 2013

- ❑ A company, having distributable reserves, has two options to distribute the same to its shareholders either by declaration and payment of dividends to the shareholders, or by way of purchase of its own shares (i.e. buy-back of shares) at a consideration fixed by it. In the first case, the payment by company is subject to DDT and income in the hands of shareholders is exempt. In the second case the income is taxed in the hands of shareholder as capital gains.

- ❑ Unlisted Companies, as part of tax avoidance scheme, were resorting to buy-back of shares instead of payment of dividends in order to avoid payment of tax by way of DDT particularly where the capital gains arising to the shareholders are either not chargeable to tax or are taxable at a lower rate.*

Memorandum explaining provisions of the Finance Bill, 2013

- ❑ In order to curb such practice it was proposed to amend the Act, by insertion of new Chapter XII-DA, to provide that the consideration paid by the company for purchase of its own unlisted shares which is in excess of the sum received by the company at the time of issue of such shares (distributed income) will be charged to tax and the company would be liable to pay additional income-tax @ 20% of the distributed income paid to the shareholder. The additional income-tax payable by the company shall be the final tax on similar lines as dividend distribution tax. The income arising to the shareholders in respect of such buy back by the company would be exempt where the company is liable to pay the additional income-tax on the buy-back of shares.

Significance of amendments introduced vide Finance Act, 2016

Memorandum explaining the provisions of the Finance Bill, 2016

- ❑ Doubts were raised regarding the effect of buybacks undertaken by the company under different provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 or the Companies Act, 2013 and applicability of provisions of section 115QA to such transactions.
- ❑ An issue arose regarding lack of clarity in determination of consideration received by the company at the time of issue of shares being bought back by the company. There are situations where shares may have been issued by the company in tranches, for different considerations, at different point of time or may have been issued in lieu of existing shares of another company under amalgamation, merger or demerger.
- ❑ For the purposes of section 115QA, it is the effect of buyback being in the nature of distribution of income which is relevant rather than particular provision of the law relating to companies under which it has been undertaken.

Significance of amendments introduced vide Finance Act, 2016

Memorandum explaining the provisions of the Finance Bill, 2016

- Further, lack of clarity in the manner of determination of consideration received by the company would lead to avoidable disputes and also presents a tax arbitrage opportunity of scaling up of consideration particularly under a tax neutral business reorganisation followed by buyback of shares.
- In order to provide clarity and remove any ambiguity on the above issues, Section 115QA to provide that the provisions of this section shall apply to any buy back of unlisted share undertaken by the company in accordance with the provisions of the law relating to the Companies and not necessarily restricted to section 77A of the Companies Act, 1956, and further that for the purpose of computing distributed income, the amount received by the Company in respect of the shares being bought back shall be determined in the prescribed manner. The rules to provide for manner of determination of the amount in various circumstances including shares being issued under tax neutral reorganisations and in different tranches.

Consequences of default in payment of tax on buy back

Section 115QB. Interest payable for non-payment of tax by company—

Where the principal officer of the domestic company and the company fails to pay the whole or any part of the tax on the distributed income section 115QA(1), within the time allowed (i.e. 14 days) , he or it shall be liable to pay simple interest at the rate of one per cent for every month or part thereof on the amount of such tax for the period beginning on the date immediately after the last date on which such tax was payable and ending with the date on which the tax is actually paid.

Section 115QC. When company is deemed to be assessee in default—

If any principal officer of a domestic company and the company does not pay tax on distributed income in accordance with the provisions of section 115QA, then, he or it shall be deemed to be an assessee in default in respect of the amount of tax payable by him or it and all the provisions of this Act for the collection and recovery of income-tax shall apply.

Applicability of Section 56(2)(viia) / 56(2)(x) on buy back

- ❑ Section 56(2)(viia) is applicable where a taxpayer “receives” any property, being shares of a company, without consideration or for inadequate consideration.
- ❑ In a recent ruling by the Hon’ble Mumbai Tribunal in Vora Financial Services Pvt. Limited (ITA No. 532/Mum/2018), the recipient company made an offer of buy back of shares at a value less than the FMV of the shares and the AO invoked the provisions of Section 56(2)(viia) in the hands of the recipient company for taxing the difference between the FMV and the consideration paid for buy back. The Tribunal held that the provisions of Section 56(2)(viia) are applicable only in cases where the receipt of shares become property in the hands of the recipient and the shares shall become the property of the recipient only if they were ‘shares of any other company’. Where the taxpayer had purchased its own shares under the buy-back scheme and the same had been extinguished by reducing the capital, the test of becoming ‘property’ and also ‘shares of any other company’ in the hands of the recipient fail in the instant case, and accordingly, the provisions of Section 56(2)(viia) cannot be invoked with respect to buy-back of own shares.
